Are there any specific comments that you would like to make regarding the academic training, syllabus, practical exposure, and hands-on experience of the Sipajhar College students?

Academic training: It should be divided into two phases. 1. when the students enroll in college and 2. when the program is complete.

Syllabus: The curriculum should provide students with significant practice opportunities in the form of multiple problem sets, homework, and subject-focused assignments.

Practical exposure: Teachers at the college level should place a premium on practical experience so that students can test their talents, discover their weaknesses, and work more in-depth in a particular sector.

Hands-on experience:

Faculty members should pay special attention to practical experience so that it provides students with benefits that extend far beyond the classroom. Because employers seek candidates who can retain information, discover answers to issues rapidly, and demonstrate creative thinking to better their work.

Any other comments or suggestions?

Teachers should be more approachable to students.
